Subject: 2 Treating Plant Instrument Cable Reroute

Jack,

I would like to commend your group for a very prepared, organized and professional instrumentation outage and reroute. We all know that interfacing with the existing operations can be complex. The electricians did a great job of coordinating the outage with operations and the instrument technicians, their execution was flawless, leading to a successful operation.

The instrument technicians understanding of the control room and cube operations along with their knowledge of the instruments was quite impressive. What really stood out was the professional procedure they employed for the loop checks. Both the technical procedures and communication skills employed assured a reliable return to operation of the system.

Thank You
