Storm Restoration

Meade Storm and Disaster Restoration Expertise

Meade provides storm and emergency assistance for electrical and natural gas utilities, pipeline systems and large industrial customers. Our crews have worked throughout the United States to help companies repair and rebuild their energy delivery infrastructure when disaster strikes. We have the experienced crews and support equipment to help utilities with their overhead and underground system restoration right up to the customer meter. Our crews can quickly mobilize and be on their way to help you safely restore your energy delivery systems. Our crews utilize computer aided dispatch and radio communication to efficiently use our resources on your behalf. We've been recognized by our customers for taking good care of their customers during very trying times.
